

Report on SDG2: Zero Hunger

Thaksin University, Thailand

2.5.3 University access to local farmers and food producers

Thaksin University provides knowledge to local farmers and food producers, giving them access to various facilities at the university. For example:

The Vichayuth Agricultural Strategy for Poverty Alleviation project in Si Nakanin is focused on developing local food, specifically the large-leaved Liang vegetable. This initiative includes setting up a tissue culture laboratory for farmers in Phatthalung Province. The activity took place at the Phrae Thong Seed Network Learning Center in Lam Sin Subdistrict, Si Nakanin District, Phatthalung, on July 14-15, 2023. Knowledge transfer activities included a hands-on workshop on tissue culture of large-leaved Liang vegetable for 30 community innovators and area managers, held at the Plant Tissue Culture Laboratory in the Botany Laboratory Building, Faculty of Science, Thaksin University, Phatthalung Campus.
